Open dialogue airs problems

Fred Rizzo, English Dept.

As the last shrieking strains of the Star Spangled Banner—as interpreted by Jimi Hendrix—died down in the College Union patio yesterday, Pres. Robert E. Kennedy went to the microphone and remained there for nearly an hour and a half answering a barrage of questions concerning foreign student tuition increases, non-retention of certain faculty members and open door policy in the dormitories.

The meeting was a result of an earlier agreement between Kennedy and the leaders of five student organizations. It was agreed that the format of the discussion, which took place before an estimated 800 people, would be for each student to ask a series of questions.

The largest amount of discussion at the meeting concerned the non-retention of English instructor Fred Rizzo, who maintains that he has been let go for reasons not academic, but political.

Students For New Action Politics representative Ray DeGroote asked Kennedy to denounce American Legion newsletter, which charged that Rizzo, in circulating a petition protesting the war in Vietnam, was using a line of thought similar to that used in "Peking and Hanoi." Kennedy said that he could not denounce that line because that line of thought "may be used in Peking and Hanoi."

Rizzo then stepped up to DeGroote's microphone and asked Kennedy why something non-academic like an American Legion newsletter is used in evaluating an instructor. Jon Ericson, Dean of the School of Communicative Arts and Humanities, then stepped up from the audience at Kennedy's beckoning to explain the situation. Ericson said that the tenured members of the English faculty did not even know about the American Legion newsletter and therefore, did not take it into consideration in evaluating Rizzo. Ericson went on to say that the reason that Rizzo was being fired was because of a refusal to teach freshman English classes.

Kennedy also went at length to discuss the case of another non-retained instructor, Ralph Vrana of the Physics Dept. after being questioned by John Mason of the Ecology Action Committee.

Kennedy said that he will guarantee Vrana re-employment if he gets a doctorate in either geology or the physical sciences.

Vrana then moved up to say that he wants to have tenure before he leaves for more study. Kennedy cited the fact that on 13 of the state colleges, no one in the physics department gets tenure unless they have a doctorate and that the Physics department needs instructors with a doctorate in order that it meet the needs for a support school. Kennedy explained that the Engineering Council for Professional Development told him that the support schools need faculty with doctorates if the School of Engineering is to be re-accredited.

Kennedy informed a representative from the Iranian Students Association, who had a question about tuition, that students who are enrolled at this campus or who enrolled before November 23, 1970, only have to pay $800 instead of the new $1200. He also said that he would do all he could to help foreign students in their financial burden.

On the subject of the dormitories, which was the last topic of the meeting, Kennedy said that he would not have any answers until returns come from letters that were sent to the parents of minors.

We have some students," he said, "that have adult ideas."

President Kennedy said he will be available to respond to questions regarding campus issues in an effort to increase and maintain communications with all members of the student body, the faculty and the staff of the college.

The next such meeting in the series has been scheduled for Wed., March 10, at 2 p.m. in the College Union, Room 203.

A third will be scheduled for the same room at noon on Thursday, March 11.

Paul D. Banke, president of the student body said Associated Students, Inc. will sponsor the appearances of the president and staff members of the college, who will respond to questions submitted by students and faculty and staff.

Questions for the series may be submitted to the Office of the President, or to the Associated Students Office in the College Union.

'Clean air this decade'

"There is already enough technology to ban smog and air pollution from the internal combustion engine if we only apply it."

This was the theory put forth by Dr. John Beck at the Engineering Week Banquet last Friday night. In his speech, Dr. Beck emphasized that engineers should be 'logical doers' rather than 'illogical dissenters.'

"I'm convinced that the goal for clean air will be met sometime in the 70's; and it will be done thanks to those who look in the mirror and see there 'doers,'" he said.

The banquet, climax to the Engineering Week, was held at the Golden Tee Inn in Morro Bay, and was attended by many professional engineers from San Luis

Credit plus experience work-study

For students who would like to earn $80 a week and help prepare their future in a helping-service occupation, a summer work-study program is being offered by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

This program gives the student working experience which relates to his concurrent on-campus studies. The goal is to provide a varied range of experience within professional agencies, with professionals within the total helping-services network.

The jobs are in agencies and institutions for the mentally ill, the mentally retarded, the delinquent, and agencies dealing with community services.

The on-campus academic work will stress related reading assignments, conferences, seminars and study projects. The average salary is about $80 per week and the student can expect to receive college credits at the completion of the summer. His expenses include a tuition fee, room and board, and transportation costs.

Participating campuses, in the west, include California State College in Los Angeles, the University of Hawaii, Portland State College and Washington State University.

A letter of inquiry will present specific information about any of the participating schools. Applications must be postmarked before March 18. For further information, contact the Social Sciences Department, Lib. 214.

Poly Canyon, a place to learn

Poly Canyon is a working example of—learn by doing. The Architecture Department has been involved in building and maintaining experimental structures since the days when this campus was full of barracks. Students first built the structures on campus to add to the beauty of the school as well as to give added room-space to the campus. They received credit for their senior project while gaining invaluable experience in direct application of the theory they learned in class.

As the school grew building space became limited and a senior project resulted in the architecture patio. The patio, like Poly Canyon, is open for the use of the entire school. The patio has a variety of uses during the year and the bands that play during College Hour seem to be the most popular.

Seven years ago, Warren Smith and J. Cordner Gibson, arranged for the purchase of approximately ten acres of land near the Peterson Ranch and Poly Canyon was conceived.

The architecture students utilized the canyon in building full scale experimental structures employing new engineering design innovations. The students took the classroom theories they learned and put them to practical use.

The work is done completely by students with industry donating the materials that are needed. Industry uses Poly Canyon as a testing ground for their products.

Poly Canyon was once in beautiful park-like condition, but vandals and trash are starting to take their toll.

Simmon's men take five firsts in weekend affair

Steve Simmons' cindermen claimed five firsts last weekend in a non-scoring, all-comers meet at Santa Barbara. Four of the five firsts came in running events indicating the strength of the team.

Two relays were among the victories for the Mustangs. Ron Martinelli, Darryl Thomas, Swanson Bennett and Bobby Turner powered their way to a first place finish in the 440-yard relay in 42.1. Bob Chance, John Haley, Ed Kolifer and Bennett combined efforts to win the mile relay in 3:21.6.

Design lecture

"The Transition from Graduate to Design Engineer" is the topic of Tony Furtado's lecture at the next American Society of Agricultural Engineers meeting. According to President Jim Dooley, Furtado, a design engineer with New Holland Corporation, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Ag. Engineering 121. All students are invited to attend.

Fight casualty

NEW YORK UPI—Funeral services will be held Thursday for paper company magnate Harry E. Gould, who died Monday night while attending the Ali-Joe Frazier fight at Madison Square Garden.

Ward Kinsman took the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 15.2. Haley won the last event as he won the 220 in 22.0.

The lone field event winner was Mark Deitchman in the pole vault as he went 15 feet.

Four second places were grabbed by the Mustangs. Kolifer took second place in the 440 running 51.0. Richard Gooch heaved the iron ball 50 ft. 1/4 in. to claim his second place in the discus with a toss of 151 ft. 7 in.

Mike Stone took the other second in the high jump with a leap of 6 ft. 4 in.

Gunners rifled

The Mustang rifle team placed 10th last weekend in the Reno Invitational with a score of 2132. Competition was comprised of 34 teams from the Western U. S.

Montana State took the championship with a total of 2259. This score is out of a possible 2400. University of Nevada at Reno finished second with 2221 while University of Montana was third with 2198.

Individual members for the Mustangs were Samuel Thoman with 531, Larry Merrel with 541, Tim Andrews at 539 and Richard Roll with 521.
